

Destroyer Convoying Merchant Ship Sinks Attacking Teutons

Committee on Public Information Declares there have been many such Encounters Recently

ONE ENCOUNTER IS DESCRIBED

BULLETIN
Washington, Oct. 6.—An American patrol vessel in foreign waters has been lost according to an announcement made by the Navy Department. Dispatch from Admiral Sims stated ship foundered but all officers and crew landed safely. Accident occurred October 4. This is the first American ship to be lost in Foreign Anti-Submarine service which is part of the regular Navy.

Washington, Oct. 6.—American destroyers have sunk a considerable number of German U-boats. The first of a series of descriptions portraying battles between these destroyers and enemy submarines was made public by the Committee on Public Information today.

The first encounter in which a U-boat was apparently sunk within full view of a fleet of merchant ships is graphically described in a following paragraph. The date of the encounter is withheld as is also the name of the destroyer in the engagement. The American destroyer first sighted the submarine in the early morning on a clear day with the seas running calm. The submarine was running submerged with only the periscope showing and the destroyer was acting as a convoy to a large number of merchant ships which were in full view.

The U-boat was rushed at immediately off port of the destroyer and following a parallel course in an opposite direction when the periscope was discovered. It was throwing a column of water several feet high. The officer thought for a moment that a torpedo had been fired. The next instant the destroyed changed its course to the left, and it rushed for the U-boat at full speed. At the same time the forward gun opened fire on the periscope. The commanding officer ordered a course steered that would bring the destroyer across the wake of the U-boat, a little to the rear of the periscope. As the destroyer rushed across the line a charge was sent and a column of clear water shot thirty feet into the air. Three times the destroyer circled the U-boat, each time shooting a death charge. On the third circular movement all of the port guns opened on the submarine. Spouts of clear water each time showed that charge had missed. The fourth time the destroyed came to the attack exactly in the wake of the U-boat, as she neared the end of the line the fourth death charge was let go and there followed a wide path of seething, churning water and a heavy film of oil. The destroyer spent some time looking for further signs of the U-boat but none was found. The engagement lasted 22 minutes. The engagement brought a letter of appreciation from the British Admiral who highly praised the efficiency of the officers and crew of the American destroyer.

Second Liberty Loan Campaign Is Started

First Meeting Results in Sale of nearly $3,000 Worth of Bonds

The Liberty Bond campaign began yesterday with speaking at the Clearfield Machine Shops. At the noon hour short talks were made by R. W. Chamberlain and Thomas D. Irwin who have been sent into Clearfield county by the Federal Reserve board in the interest of the Government Loan Committee Headquarters advise today that the meeting with the employees of this concern, many of whom are already in the military service resulted in a loan of $2,350, and it is expected that this amount will be somewhat increased by later subscriptions.

Paul D. Watson son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. P. Watson who has been at Camp Lee, Virginia, has been transferred to Overseas Repair Section No. 1 of the Medical Sanitary corps at Allentown, Pa., for active service. Paul expects to be sent to France about November 1st.

Coal Miners To Receive Substantial Increase

Conference at Washington Results in Satisfactory Agreement

Washington, Oct. 5.—Bituminous coal miners of the Central competitive field won their fight for a general wage increase tonight when operators and miners representatives in conference here reached a compromise agreement on the terms of a new contract. The agreement presages a wage raise throughout the industry since the central gold scale serves as a basis for all other districts, and a consequent advance in the government's fixed price for coal.

Price to Go Up
Operators representatives agreed to the new wages on condition that they be absorbed in higher coal prices. After the agreement, drawn by a sub-committee, is ratified tomorrow by the full conference they will go to the fuel administration and ask a revision upward of present coal prices to meet the raise. The wage increase, according to operators, estimates, will add from 35 to 50 cents a ton to the cost of producing coal in thick vein mines and considerably more in mines containing the thinner veins.

The new contract will contain provisions to prevent strikes and lock-outs and will be so drawn as to make it impossible for either operators or miners to break it on the grounds of changed conditions. It will run for the duration of the war, provided the war does not continue more than two years.

The Advances
Under the agreement an increase of 10 cents a ton will be paid for pick and machine mining as against the miners first demand for 15 cents; day labor will be advanced $1.40 a day instead of the $1.90 asked; the pay for yardage and dead work will be increased 15 per cent instead of 20 per cent demanded. Trappers will get 75 cents a day raise and other boys $1.00.

The conferences began nearly two weeks ago. At first it appeared the two sides would have the greatest difficulty in getting together. The first demands of the miners were met by an offer of a slight increase, which the miners promptly refused. The miners then made a counter proposal reducing their demands considerably and this offer finally was accepted by the operators virtually as it stood.

Contract for War Period
The length of time the contract should run was one of the most difficult questions. The miners asked that it be made for two years, but the operators, fearing the war might end suddenly and demoralize the coal industry, held out for a contract to last only throughout the war. The compromise was fairly satisfactory to both sides.

PUNXSUTAWNEY GIRL SHOTS MAN BECAUSE OF ALLEGED INSULT

Punxsutawney, Pa., Oct. 5.—With two bullets in his left arm and one lodged in his left lung, Michael Barile, a railroad employe, took refuge in the R. R. Y. M. C. A. Thursday, with Mrs. Agnes Vardell, who did the shooting, closely pursuing him. Mrs. Vardell says that Barile entered her home near the Y. M. C. A. and made improper advances to her. Barile is in the Adrian hospital in a serious condition.

After the shooting, Mrs. Vardell, who is but 19 years old, calmly sat on the front porch of her home and waited for the police, with the empty revolver under her apron. As the girl is about to become a mother, she was not arrested, but is under surveillance at her home.

FIREMEN HELP SOLDIERS BOOK FUND

The Clearfield Fire Department at its regular meeting in No. 1 hall last evening unanimously decided to contribute $10 from the department treasury to the soldiers book fund and a check for the amount was made out in favor of Rev. Dr. Reeve, chairman of the local branch. The individual companies of the department will also make a contribution to this fund at their next meeting.

GREAT POLISH PATRIOT TO BE REMEMBERED

Centennial Anniversary of Death of Thaddeus Kosciuszko, To Be Fittingly Celebrated

A REVOLUTIONARY WAR HERO

Washington, D. C., Oct. 5.—The thousands of American citizens of Polish nativity or descent are making elaborate preparations to pay honor to the memory of Kosciuszko, the great Polish patriot and warrior and the friend of America in the Revolution, in celebrations to be held this month on the centennial anniversary of his death. Plans are under way for a notable patriotic meeting to be held in this city, with President Wilson as the chief speaker. Similar observances are to be held in Chicago, New York, Milwaukee and various other cities with a large Polish element in their population.

Thaddeus Kosciuszko was one of the most prominent of the many men of varied fortunes and strong character who were attracted to America at the time of the Revolution. He belonged to a family of the lesser nobility, and his life was marked out for the army. He had a distinct taste for music, and this attracted much attention at the cadet school at Warsaw, where he was placed for study. He made a brilliant success in all branches of his education, so much so that the state sent him to France to perfect his studies.

It was really an unhappy love affair with the daughter of a Polish nobleman far above his station that decided Kosciuszko to seek adventure in some foreign land. The struggle of the American colonies appealed to him and in 1777 he sailed from France with the French fleet to assist the Americans with his sword. Washington found him a devoted officer and one to be trusted in times of emergency when firmness and courage were eminently essential.

He went back to Poland in 1786. When his unhappy country became subject to Russia he went to live at Leipzig, and there he remained till the army was reorganized in Poland. He was made a major general.

His efforts for his country were stupendous, and at one time he held 20,000 Russians from attack with only 4,000 men. But the action of King Stanislaus in agreeing to peace in 1792 made all Kosciuszko's efforts of no avail and he resigned his commission.

In 1794, when Poland had been a second time divided into sections, there was revolution, and Kosciuszko was called to Cracow and made dictator. He tried to follow the example of Washington in the midst of danger and pressing needs.

He was victorious over the Russians at great odds, and if King Frederick William of Prussia had not come to the aid of the Russians the Poles would have won their independence. But the Polish army was opposed by thousands more than they could bring into the field, and in a last terrible battle, where Kosciuszko had only 4,000 men to meet 14,000 Russians, the Poles were overwhelmed and their brave leader was wounded.

He recovered from these wounds, however, and for two years was a prisoner at St. Petersburg. Under the Emperor Paul I he was freed, and he came over to America to see with his own eyes the progress made by the young republic.

There was a dramatic moment in his release. The Emperor handed him back his sword. The devoted Pole drew himself up proudly and declined to receive it, saying: "I have no use for my sword, as I have no longer a country."

After enjoying hospitality and honors in the United States, Kosciuszko went to France and settled at Fontainebleau. Bonaparte tried to use his name and influence to bring about a rising in Poland against France. But the patriot was too honorable to lend himself to such a scheme. When Bonaparte fell and the Rus-

VETERANS ARE ENTERTAINED AT GRAMPIAN

Forty Eight Patriots Answer to the Roll Call on Day in their Honor at juvenile Fair

BIG FAIR BETTER THAN EVER

The county reunion of the discharged Soldiers and Sailors of Clearfield county was held at the Grampian fair yesterday and it was a great success throughout, not withstanding the inclemency of the weather. They were most royally entertained by the good people of Grampian. Nelson Walker, chairman of the committee on entertainment, his assistants, and the Grampian Fair association under the leadership of Dr. J. A. Miller could not do enough to make their visit pleasant. The good ladies of Grampian provided a bountiful dinner. The divine blessing was invoked by Rev. Geo. Kpaator of the Curwensville Baptist church.

Col. George D. Runk president of the organization presided in his usual happy manner. Rev. John P. McCurdy made the prayer. W. P. Harper, secretary of the organization, called the roll and forty-eight veterans responded to their names.

Stirring addresses were delivered by Captain A. H. Woodward, W. I. Swoope, Esq., and Rev. John P. McCurdy.

Rev. Cook and John Haley rendered some fine solos. Another pleasing feature of the program were the recitations of Miss Lewis Johnson and Miss Edith Anderson.

After the program was over, we they visited the baby show and witnessed some fine drill work by the pupils of the Grampian and Stronach schools under the leadership of Prof. Will Humphrey, principal of the Grampian schools. All agreed it was one of the pleasantest days they have ever spent and will be glad to visit Grampian whenever they have the opportunity.

The following officers were elected to serve for the ensuing year: President, George D. Runk. Vice President, Cyrus Woods. Sec-Treas., W. P. Harper.

Prominent Attorney Answers Final Call

James H. Kelley, Esq., Passes Away At His Market Street Home

Ex-district Attorney James H. Kelley passed peacefully into rest at his Market street home at 6:30 o'clock this morning following an illness of several years duration, aged 65 years. He is survived by a widow, one son and one daughter.

The funeral will be held from his late residence Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Services will be in charge of his pastor, Rev. Dr. E. C. Reeve, of the First Presbyterian church. Proper obituary Monday.

sians entered Paris, Kosciuszko had a long interview with the Emperor Alexander whom he urged to restore to Poland what had been taken from her. There is reason to believe that Alexander promised this.

It was in 1815 that Kosciuszko went to Switzerland to spend his remaining years. An accidental fall from his horse was the cause of his death, which occurred Oct. 17, 1817. The entire civilized world paid him the tribute of admiration and honor, for his heroic deeds there was nothing for motive but the aid of a true patriot.

LaFollette Replies To Charges Of Treason In Red Hot Speech

JEFFERSON CO. SATISFIED WITH CONDITIONS

Correspondent Charges Clarion and Clearfield County Dealers with Evils They have now

AN ANSWER TO MR. BANGERT

Some time ago Charles J. Bangert, the DuBois publicist, objected rather seriously to a statement which appeared in these columns relative to the great decrease in the number of arrests by the police of Punxsutawney during the first year of the town's "dry existence" following the refusal of all liquor licenses in Jefferson county by Judge Corbett. Mr. Bangert made certain assertions regarding the recent Jefferson county criminal court and alleged that the people of Jefferson county were already tired of the peace, sobriety and good order due to the changed conditions.

We promised to inquire into the matter and find how far "John Barleycorn's" defender was from the truth in his statement, and herewith supply the following statement which we received from an authoritative source and which one can bank on. It is not our purpose to engage in any controversy over this matter but publish this statement to make good our word concerning Bangert's charge.

We are advised as follows: "Jefferson county is more than satisfied with her present lot, and were it not for the liquor dealers and manufacturers of Clarion and Clearfield counties, her condition would closely approach the ideal. At the last unsuccessful attempt of a few former saloon keepers to obtain licenses, most of them found it difficult to secure sufficient signers to give their petition legality. Business men, who had formerly signed such petitions, refused, and I say, without fear of contradiction, that conditions throughout Jefferson county, morally and in a business way, are better than they were under the license system. Of course, liquor is brought into the county and is being used, often too freely, by those addicted to the habit, but the beauty of it all is that we are not making a new crop or recruiting the youth of our county to take the places of those for whom the former licensed saloons were responsible. Mr. Bangert knows and every thinking man and woman knows that no serious economic or moral defense can be offered for the existence of the liquor traffic.

It is true that our August Criminal Court was larger than usual, but its length could not be attributed in any way to the absence of saloons. The greater part of the time was taken up with the trial of the Ernest Haines murder case, as Mr. Bangert doubtless well knows. This case came from a rural township, which never had a saloon, and it did not appear that Ernest Haines was ever addicted to the use of liquor. The motive for the alleged crime, participating in the murder of his father, as a desire for money. The other murder case came from another township that never had a licensed saloon and nowhere in the testimony did it appear that either the deceased or the defendant, who were brothers-in-law were drunk. It was far from the drunken row which results in killings that are so common in your county. If it had not been for the two cases mentioned our Court would not have lasted over four days."

BAR ASSOCIATION MEETS

At a meeting of the Clearfield County Bar Association held in the Law Library this morning for the purpose of taking suitable action on the death of James H. Kelley, Esq., it was decided to hold a memorial session in the court room Monday morning at 9:30 o'clock. Judge Bell appointed the following committee to draft resolutions and report at this meeting: George R. Butler, W. A. Haggerty and W. C. Pentz.

Eleven Deserters Listed By Local Board

Registrants Who Failed to Appear for Examination When Summoned are Listed

In addition to the four or five other men who failed to answer when summoned for service in the National Army, mention of which had already been made in The Progress, the Examination Board has a list of eleven additional men who failed to answer the summons and appear for examination and are carried on the rolls as deserters and whose names will be turned over to the Department of Justice for investigation and arrest. The list, together with the record made by the local board follows:

353 Barto, John, Clearfield, left town and cannot be located.
438 Predelin, Ferdinand Winburne, cannot be found.
454 Youngdale, Louis R., Phillipsburg, cannot be found.
34 Juggquist, Henry P., Winburne, With carnival and can't be located.
281 Oprenci, Mike, Curwensville, Can't be found.
390 Romanski, Wasel, Woodland, Mail returned, can't be found.
395 McKee, Malcolm B., Clearfield, Mail returned, can't be found.
429, Bleo, William, Clearfield, Mail returned, can't be found.
88 McCabe, Michael, Hawk Run, Wrote for transfer twice, but has not been found.
93 Roney, Patsy, Wallacetown, Mail returned, can't be found.
210 Kolodyck, John, Curwensville, No response to notice.

Five of the six men recalled by the local board for re-examination were before the examining physicians yesterday and all were passed. These men had been rejected at the first examination on account of having flat feet, but since that time the rule regarding flat feet has been greatly modified and under the new regulations the former disqualifications were done away with. Three of the five, however, are married and have dependents and will no doubt be exempted at this time.

The men passed were as follows: Charles Edison Groce, Clearfield. Thomas Leonard Waring, Morrisdale. Percy Emerson Cowell, Morrisdale. James Canady Frampton, Winburne. Harvey Al Morgan, Glen Richey.

GLEN RICHEY VISITORS IN TOWN

Edward Gill and Alexander Patterson, of Glen Richey, had business at the Court House this morning incident to a real estate deal in which they were the principals. Mr. Gill disposed of a property in Glen Richey to Mr. Patterson and they were at the Recorder's office to have the matter properly placed of record.

Theophilus Cox, attorney for Mr. Gill was also present and conducted the negotiations. Mr. Cox informed us while here that he is working on a device to combat the U-boat and has great hopes for his invention which he says has been promised a trial by the navy department.

PHEASANT VISITS TOWN

Demands Statement of War aims of the Government and War party in charge of Affairs

WILL NOT TURN FROM COURSE

Washington, Oct. —Senator LaFollette today in a spectacular speech before the Senate defied those in the country who charge him with sedition and treason denouncing the campaign of libel and character assassination against men opposing war measures. He declared neither the clamor of the mob nor the voice of power would turn him. It is the first time a Senator has ever replied to such serious charges in this manner. He said what he termed the "war party" was trying to intimidate Congress and the people and fiercely defended his speech at the same time demanding a statement of war aims.

"Not by the breadth of a blade," he shouted, "will I turn from the course marked out for myself guided by common knowledge as I can obtain and controlled and directed by solemn conviction of right and duty."

"Since the declaration of war the triumphant war party has pursued those senators and representatives who voted against war with malicious attack going to the extreme limit of charging them with treason," LaFollette said.

"But it is not alone members of Congress that the war party has sought to intimidate. A mandate has gone forth to the people that they must be silent while the things done by their government are things which most vitally concern their being, their happiness and their lives."

"Today and for weeks past laws law abiding citizens of this country are being terrorized and their rights outraged by those sworn to uphold laws and protect the rights of the people."

"I have in my possession numerous affidavits establishing the fact that people have been unlawfully arrested, thrown into jail and held incarcerated for days at a time only to be released without ever having been taken into court because they have committed no crime, private residences being invaded and the most sacred constitutional rights of an American citizen being continually violated. It appears to be the purpose of those conducting this campaign to throw the country into a state of terror to coerce public opinion, to stifle criticism and suppress discussion of the great issues involved in this war."

He quoted from speeches and writings of Lincoln, Clay, Webster and Sumner to show opposition to war and to President Polk's attitude and policy, and to Lloyd George's opposition of the Boer war. He quoted from Chatham and Burke on their opposition to the war on the American Colonies. In closing LaFollette said: "To show that the principle of free speech was not new doctrine and was born of the Constitution of the United States," LaFollette then launched into a criticism of Congress for failing to "exercise its power to declare the purpose of the war."

After the conclusion of LaFollette's speech, Senator Kellogg introduced a resolution. "After we have declared war," said Kellogg, "I believe that we should be extremely cautious and accurate in stating cause of the war. I deny that we went to war to secure the rights of American citizens to ride on ships loaded with munitions or explosives. I deny that we went to war to protect the loans of Morgan and Company to foreign governments."

He reviewed the history of torpedoes and American ships. "I am as jealous of the right of free speech as any member of this body or any citizen of the land, but this is an erroneous statement of fact rather than free speech."

ONLY THEIR NAMES ARE GERMAN

By Reinette Lovewell of The Vigilantes

The man who spends a great deal of his time on trains has to put up with all kinds of discomforts—and one of the most annoying is to be forced to sit behind or beside the defiantly outspread pages of a newspaper printed in German. It's astonishing, the number of these German-language papers which loom up along the length of a coach or a smoker on any train out of New York or Chicago or St. Louis or Detroit. It is bound to get on the nerves of any good American who understands German to read disloyal statements over the back of a red plush seat, or to see some stolid, bald-headed citizen soaking his system full of sedition across the aisle.

Mr. Harry A. Schendel, member of the Commercial Travelers' Association stood it as long as he could. Then he decided to do something.

The Schendels came to the United States from Prussia in the days of sailing vessels. They fought in the Civil War. This year, when the country again needed men to fight for its ideals, Harry Schendel volunteered his services, but was rejected because he was under weight.

His own feeling against German autocracy was so strong that Mr. Schendel felt sure there were thousands of other men and women of German parentage or German birth who resent, as he does, the dangerous influence of papers printed in the German language. Why not get them to enroll in an organization that would come out flat-footed to force these papers to say what they had to say in good old United States—at least during the war?

Gripped by this idea, Mr. Schendel hunted up some men he thought would lend a hand. Like himself they were traveling men; they, too, saw and heard things on the road that were little short of treason.

There was Alfred de Vide, whose business is manufacturing leather goods—troubles of his own he has, too, what with the scarcity of leather and prices soaring every day. There was Edward Bodenheimer, interested in handkerchiefs; and Isaac Kaiser, K-a-i-s-e-r, mind you, also a wholesaler in leather. Plain, everyday business men, all of them, out hustling for their families, worried over contracts, dog-tired at night, but, in spite of their names, Americans—real 18-karat Americans who are awake to the fact that the United States is at war with Germany. In the day's work they determined to make time some way to get after those who were working against the Government.

Without letting any grass grow under their feet they formed a Pro-American Society—"For America first, last, and all the time," its letter head declares—with Mr. De Vide, President; Mr. Bodenheimer, Vice President; Mr. Schendel, Secretary and Mr. Kaiser, Treasurer.

SURTAX SCHEDULE ON INCOMES OVER $5,000;
AMOUNT OF EXEMPTIONS

Under the provisions of the new war revenue law every individual whose income amounts to $1,000 or more a year must make a sworn statement to the government for taxable purposes. Each married person is allowed an exemption of $2,000 and each single person an exemption of $1,000. The amount of annual income in excess of those sums is taxed 2 per cent. until the taxable income reaches $5,000, when "surtax" rates begin. This surtax is in addition to the 2 per cent. "normal tax." The surtax rates progress as follows:

Incomes	Surtax
$5,000 up to $7,500	1 per cent.
$7,500 up to $10,000	2 per cent.
$10,000 up to $12,500	3 per cent.
$12,500 up to $15,000	4 per cent.
$15,000 up to $20,000	5 per cent.
$20,000 up to $40,000	7 per cent.
$40,000 up to $60,000	10 per cent.
$60,000 up to $80,000	14 per cent.
$80,000 up to $100,000	18 per cent.
$100,000 up to $150,000	22 per cent.
$150,000 up to $200,000	25 per cent.
$200,000 up to $250,000	30 per cent.
$250,000 up to $300,000	34 per cent.
$300,000 up to $500,000	37 per cent.
$500,000 up to $750,000	40 per cent.
$750,000 up to $1,000,000	45 per cent.
$1,000,000 and up	50 per cent.

The surtax rates are in addition to those of the amended law of September, 1916, which begin with 1 per cent. imposed upon incomes between $20,000 and $40,000 and rise to 13 per cent. on annual incomes exceeding $2,000,000.

MEXICANS AGAIN IN REVOLT

Former Carranza Commander Reported Mobilizing Troops

Brownsville, Tex., Oct. 5.—A revolt against the Mexican government has been started by General Porfirio Gonzalez, former Carranza commander, who has mobilized 800 followers at Aldamas, near the Nuevo Leon-Tamaulipas line, 150 miles west of Matamoras, according to reports reaching here. Aldamas is 100 miles south of Roma, Texas.

All trains out of Matamoras, advances received here say, have been canceled. Mexican officials, however, say this is because of high water in the Rio Grande and San Juan. A report received late this afternoon said that military trains are beginning to move.

Few troops are stationed in Matamoras, but some are scattered along the frontier on the Mexican railway. The Mexican consulate here said there was no confirmation of the reports of the revolt of General Gonzalez.

CALF PREDICTS WAR'S END

Williamsport, Pa., Oct. 5.—The birth of a calf bearing the figures "17" on its hide on the farm of G. W. Weaver, near Montgomery, leads many people to believe that the freak forecast the end of the war before the close of 1917. The figures are nine inches high and one-half inch wide. They are perfectly shown in black on a white background on the left side of the calf.

On the right side is the profile of a stern-looking man wearing a military cap, which all beholders so far have declared to be a striking silhouette of Napoleon Bonaparte.

AMERICAN FOREIGN MISSIONS

He was born at Curwensville March 22, 1861. His education was secured at Phillips Academy of Andover, Mass., Dickinson Seminary of Williamsport, Eastman School of Business. Several years he was a clerk in the Curwensville National Bank, following this in 1886 by becoming cashier of the Coalport Bank. Removing to Reading in 1896, he engaged in the wholesale coal business with W. C. Billman. Mr. Patton was married in 1886 to Elizabeth Eckhart of Curwensville, who survives him. Other survivors are their son Eugene, of Anyox, B. C., and a daughter Winifred at home, a grandson Francis Ellis Patton, a brother Charles E. Patton, of Harrisburg and two sisters Mrs. C. S. Russell of Curwensville, and Mrs. Edmund Gros, of Paris. Mr. Patton was well known locally and throughout the state being a member of various Masonic bodies, the R. P. O. Elks, and the Eagles, moreover, several years ago was the owner of the Reading baseball club of the Atlantic league. Obsequies were held at his late residence in Reading, on Tuesday evening last, consisting of Scripture and prayer by Rev. Chas. R. Myers, concluding with exercises by Reading Lodge, of the Elks. Wednesday the remains were brought to Curwensville for services at the home of his brother-in-law J. Albert Frank. At 11 a. m. Thursday Rev. I. P. Hawkins conducted brief exercises of Scripture and prayer. Interment was made in Oak Hill Cemetery at Curwensville with Rev. I. P. Hawkins officiating. Final services were by Noble Lodge, No. 480, F. & A. M., of Curwensville.

Mrs. Ashley McDowell and Mrs. Dal Richards planted 34 of an acre of beans on the McDowell farm near Nantux which yielded them 40 bushels.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Fullerton and Mr. and Mrs. David Reid who left last Sunday on an automobile trip to York, Gettysburg and other places of interest returned home today, having had a most delightful trip.

Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Norris, who were visiting Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Bloom, have returned to their home at Phillipsburg.

Mrs. Maud Phillips and Mrs. Lloyd Adelman are spending today with Miss Emma McDowell in Clearfield.

Misses Miriam Dyer, Margaret Karstetter, Dorothy Ake, Leslie Gilblond, Russell Santee and James Maxwell left yesterday afternoon for the Blackford hunting camp where they will spend a couple of days. Mrs. M. F. Karstetter chaperoned the jolly party.

Mrs. L. C. Bloom has returned home from Phillipsburg where she visited her niece, Mrs. T. C. McCausland.

J. M. DeLarme, of Briton, en route to Grampian, Pa., called at the Baptist parsonage yesterday.

The Flag of Freedom is the program for rally day to be rendered by the Methodist Sunday School tomorrow. The school has made great preparations for this Rally Day exercise.

The contest between the Red and the Blues has created a great deal of interest, each side working to get the largest number out and all are looking forward for a large Sunday School in the morning at nine forty-five.

The orchestra will render some fine selections. Let everybody come and make it the largest Rally Day we have ever had.

Then at eleven o'clock "The Flag of Freedom" will be rendered and the graduation of two classes from the Primary Department into the main school.

We invite parents of the children who graduate to attend the services (as well as their friends) that they may have an idea of the work in learning the Bible while in that Department.

To those who are not in the habit of going to Sunday School anywhere and to all strangers as well as visitors in the town we invite you to come with us, the hand of welcome is extended to all.

Rally day exercises at the Presbyterian church at 10:45, Sunday, Oct. 7. A very good program has been prepared entitled "Our Country and Our Flag."

Opening Song—Battle Hymn of the Republic.

Prayer and Scripture Reading.

Singing and other special exercises by the primary and junior departments.

Singing by the School—"The Flag"

Recitation—Misses Ruth Twigg and Marion Snyder.

Song by the School—"The Flag"

Missionary exercises by Mrs. Sawtell's class and others.

Recognition service for members of the school who have enlisted in the war.

Reading messages from members in training camps or at the front.

Closing hymn—"My Country 'Tis of Thee."

Everybody made welcome.

There will be Rally Day exercises at the Lutheran church Sunday, A cordial welcome is extended to all.

Fred P. Robison the up-to-date printer, was the guest of the F. & A. M. at six o'clock dinner in Clearfield last evening.

Anthony Hile has returned home from Graysville where he attended Presbytery.

Frank H. Kirk, of New York, vice president and secretary of the George C. Hammond shipping company spent Thursday with his mother, Mrs. A. M. Kirk.

Regular preaching service in the Baptist church Sunday morning and evening. All other services as usual. Come and bring your friends with you. Everybody made welcome.

L. C. Bloom was among the number from Curwensville who took in the fair at Grampian.

The Junior class held a marshmallow roast at the home of Miss Harriet McCloskey on Ridge avenue last evening. Delicious refreshments were served at a late hour after which all returned to their respective homes, reporting a very enjoyable time.

Mrs. Ernest Post and Mrs. Robert Shaffer attended Grampian fair yesterday.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Howard Bressler Wednesday, Oct. 3.

Several new cases of diphtheria are reported. Henry Kirk, little son of Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Kirk of State street and a child of Mr. and Mrs. Light on South Side are suffering from the dread disease.

Camp Lee, Va., Sept. 29, 1917.

I received your letter today and was glad to hear from you, I got the cigars had sent me, also the stamps. I have everything I need so don't send me anything. There are all kinds of stuff in canteen checks. I can get 35c worth of tobacco for 20 cents, so don't send me any.

We haven't received our uniforms yet but we have our overcoats. It gets cold down here at night. We have a show on Saturday afternoon and nothing to do on Sunday but go to church. I have joined the church since coming here. Will get my picture taken when I go to town and send you one of them. I can't go out of camp until I get my uniform. I forgot to tell you what I got in my comfort kit. It contained soap, towel, tooth brush, paper, envelopes, about 10 needles, thread, cigarettes, tobacco, face powder, shears, comb and wash cloth, and a lot of other things.

We just had a foot ball game. We have lots of music, some of the fellows have horns and other instruments. I don't want you to worry about me one bit; I am alright, I get good eats. Meat nearly every meal. I have only had "beans" twice since I came here. We have good beds and everything we need. So don't let it trouble you, for I am well treated.

It is not so hot down here, not any hotter than it is back home. It looks like rain here now. The sun hasn't shone very much, only about 4 days out of the nine I have been here.

I have told you about all I can think of this time, so I will close, hoping to hear from you all real soon. With love.

From a loving son and brother,

IN MEMORY OF TENNYSON

London, Oct. 6.—Many beautiful floral offerings sent by literary and other societies throughout the United Kingdom were deposited at the tomb of Lord Tennyson in Westminster Abbey today, in commemoration of the twenty-fifth anniversary of the poet's death.

It was on this date in 1892 that Lord Tennyson died at his home in the Isle of Wight, after having held the poet laureateship for more than forty years.

Lesson I.—Fourth Quarter, For
Oct. 7, 1917.

THE INTERNATIONAL SERIES.

Text of the Lesson, Ps. lxxviii, 1-11.
Memory Verse, Ps. lxxviii, 11.
Golden Text, Ps. cxviii, 2.
Suggested Study Prepared by Rev. O. C. Stewart.

We have been speaking in recent lessons of some of God's great gifts in connection with the heavenly forces of His universe and the great truths of His word. Coming to the Psalms, in which we shall have at least two lessons this quarter, we find the same thing. But in all Scripture the Lord God of Israel, the Lord Jesus Christ, is ever the center. He is the perfect man of Ps. 1 in contrast to the wicked one of the same Psalm, but each includes those who are theirs. He is the one so greatly to be praised in Ps. cxli. His kingdom of Ps. 11 is the same as that of Ps. cxlix. These Psalms are Israel's fivefold response to the five books of the law, each book corresponding in some measure to each book of the Pentateuch. The ending of the first four books of Psalms are xli, lxxli, lxxviii, cvi, and are easily noted by the double "Amen" of the first three and the "Amen, Hallelujah!" of the fourth. Christ is no doubt in all the Psalms, as He is in all the Scriptures, according to His own testimony in Luke xxiv, 27, 44. His sufferings and His glory are everywhere set forth, and the setting up of His kingdom, with Israel as the center, at His coming in glory to judge and to reign.

The present age of gathering the church from all the nations is a mystery first revealed to Paul, according to Eph. iii, 1-6; Rom. xvi, 25-27; Col. 1, 26, 27, but everywhere in all the book there are heart messages for every individual believer, whether Jew or gentile. David and Asaph and Moses and perhaps others whom God inspired to write the Psalms saw, as did the prophets, the future, on to the coming of the kingdom, by the Holy Spirit who spoke to them and through them. They not only foresaw the near, but also the faroff fulfillments of the purposes of God, the restoration from Babylon and the still future restoration from all nations where they are still scattered. Both of the Psalms of our lesson may easily cover both events and give us many a glad word for our own hearts. Understanding that the thanksgiving and rejoicing are primarily that of Israel, let us as believers appropriate all we can. The nation shall be reborn suddenly and the inquiry of their land removed in the twinkling of an eye, when they shall look upon their Messiah and receive Him as their God at His coming in glory (Isa. xxv, 8, 9; Jer. 31, 31, 32, 33, 34, 35, 36, 37, 38, 39, 40, 41, 42, 43, 44, 45, 46, 47, 48, 49, 50, 51, 52, 53, 54, 55, 56, 57, 58, 59, 60, 61, 62, 63, 64, 65, 66, 67, 68, 69, 70, 71, 72, 73, 74, 75, 76, 77, 78, 79, 80, 81, 82, 83, 84, 85, 86, 87, 88, 89, 90, 91, 92, 93, 94, 95, 96, 97, 98, 99, 100).

It is impossible to have real lasting joy apart from the forgiveness of sins, for until that becomes our experience the wrath of God is still upon us (Isa. 1, 18; Jer. 31, 34). It is the privilege of every believer to proclaim to others the forgiveness of sins through Jesus Christ because of His finished work (Acts xiii, 38, 39) and by John 1, 12, and I John 1, 12, any one can see how to become a child of God and know their sins forgiven. Then can we sing the Song of Israel after they shall have received Him and make even now the words of Isa. xli, our very own. If we are not made glad by such assurances as that He will never remember our sins, and that we are even now delivered from the wrath to come (Isa. xliii, 23; I Thess. 1, 10) it must be because we fail to believe what He says, for joy and peace come by believing (Rom. xv, 13). If we are in Christ we cannot pray the words of Jer. 31, 34, "I will be a father to the fatherless and a husband to the widow," we need mercy continually and salvation from the world, the flesh and the devil, while we wait for the salvation to be revealed at His appearing (1 Peter 1, 7, 8, 9). His thoughts of peace (Ps. xlii, 11; Jer. 31, 11; John xiv, 27). Therefore it is well to say always, "I will hear what God the Lord will speak" (Isa. 66, 5).

Lesson verse 6 reminds us that the Lord is high unto all who call upon Him in truth and that salvation includes all kinds of deliverances that we may need, besides the salvation of our souls now and our bodies at His coming again (Ps. cxlv, 18; lxxviii, 20, R. V.). The saying that "glory may dwell in our land" we cannot appropriate, for it is wholly for Israel. The church, the believers of this age, have no land, for we are gathered out of all lands, strangers here, citizens of heaven, but we shall own the world after our marriage to the Lamb, just as Ruth came into possession of the field in which she had gleaned before her marriage to Boaz. His glory will fill us as individuals now in proportion to our fidelity to Him, but after His glory, shall be seen upon Israel it will fill the whole earth (Isa. lx, 1-3; Jer. 31, 34). The saying "Our land shall yield her increase" (Isa. lx, 12) is a summary of Ps. lxxvii, which tells of blessing to all the earth through Israel, but also turned as workers with God to 2 Cor. iii, 6, 7, where we learn that, however much we may labor, God alone can give the increase. In lesson verses 10-12 we have four great words, Mercy, Truth, Righteousness, Peace, each of which points to Him, whether for Israel or for us. He is the Truth, He is our Righteousness, He is our Peace, and in Him alone is Mercy found. All meet in Him as Son of David, Son of God. The great things which He has done and will do for His people should fill us with true laughter, and all sowing will bring good reaping if He does it through us (Ps. cxxv).

MARK DISCOVERY OF GOLD IN MONTANA

Missoula, Mont., Oct. 6.—A large party journeyed today to Gold Creek, forty miles east of Missoula, to attend the dedication of a monument marking the spot where gold was first discovered in Montana.

It is a gift to the state from John C. Lalor, as a memorial to her pioneer, Captain James H. Mullan, pioneer Montana editor. The shaft has been erected on the exact spot near Gold Creek where the Stuart brothers panned the first gold found in Montana in 1858. The Society of Montana Pioneers arranged the dedication exercises.

We have them in pants, coats and vests and plenty of sizes to fit all comers. Yours is here for you.

H. J. FLEGAL

Well, here we are again, almost at the opening of the hunting season. How time flies! It seems but a few short weeks since we oiled our "rusty rifle" and hung it on the wall following the close of the deer season for 1916. But the time is fast approaching, is almost here, in fact, when the devotee of dog and gun will hie him to the quiet of the woodland glen and there match wits with the furred and feathered denizens of the wild.

Hold on, there, just a minute boys. Remember Clearfield county is closed against the hunting of squirrel and wild turkey until next year.

The state game commission has very generously stocked the woods and fields of our hunter's paradise and it is now up to you, Mr. Sportsman, to cooperate with them in their endeavor to propagate the game mentioned in our good old Clearfield county hills. Watch your step.

Also remember, please, that the opening of the season was put back five days by the new law. That is, the pheasant season does not start until October 20th, but to post you properly on the provisions of the recently enacted game laws, we append herewith a summary of the new law's requirements.

The different game birds and game animals may be lawfully taken in Pennsylvania as follows:

BEAR, one each season (three to one camp or body of men, October 15 to December 15. All kinds of steel traps, dead-falls and pens forbidden.

BLACKBIRDS, unlimited, September 1 to November 30.

DEER, male with horns two inches above the hair, one each season (six to one camp or body of men, December 1 to December 15.

ELK, absolutely protected until November, 1921.

PHEASANTS, English, Mongolian, Chinese, and Ring-neck, 4 in one day, 10 in one season, October 20 to November 30.

HARE, 3 in one day, 15 in one season, November 1 to December 15. (All kinds of traps forbidden.)

HUNGARIAN QUAIL, 4 in one day, 10 in one season, October 20 to November 30.

QUAIL, commonly called Virginia Partridge, 8 in one day, 25 in one season, October 20 to November 30.

RABBITS, 10 in one day, 60 in one season, November 1 to December 15. (All kinds of traps forbidden.)

RACCOON, unlimited, September 1 to December 31.

RUFFED Grouse commonly called Pheasant, 4 in one day, 24 in one season, October 20 to November 30.

SNIPES, Jack or Wilson, unlimited, September 15 to November 30.

SQUIRRELS, Red or Pine, unlimited, 6 of the combined kinds in one day, 20 in one season, October 20 to November 30.

WILD TURKEYS, one each season, November 15 to November 30.

WOODCOCK, 10 in one day, 20 in one season, October 20 to November 30.

The Hunters' Headquarters

There isn't a thing that you will want for your season's sport that we are not in a position to furnish you.

During the past year this has become the headquarters for the hunters roundabout and is getting more popular every day.

Our varied stocks—their good quality—our service to our friends is beginning to tell in the widening out of our circle.

We just want to enumerate what we have for your sport and comfort during the season and afterwards we will tell you about them in detail.

to be a howling success thus far. There are a couple of flocks at Kennedy park, but as the old hens are only semi-wild the young crop will son come in in 1918 unless they get wild about something in the meantime.

We were of the opinion that the demands of the government on the young manhood of Clearfield county would make a distinct decrease in the number of hunter's licenses issued this year, but judging from the record in County Treasurer Kline's office for the month of September such will not be the case. One had reason to expect that when one thousand young men had been taken from our county, ninety-five per cent of whom were hunters, there would be a distinct falling off in the number of licenses to hunt issued this year, yet such is not the case, as a look at the records disclosed. On October 1st, 1916, County Treasurer Kline had already issued permits to hunt in Clearfield county to 581 persons, while on October 1st of this year 788 persons had availed themselves of the opportunity of putting up $1.00 for the legal right to "bear arms" in Clearfield county during the hunting season of 1917 and the total number of licenses issued up to Thursday evening, was 1100.

Mrs. L. F. Wagner, of Chester Hill, did not succeed in getting license No. 1 this year but she is some hunter regardless of that fact and last Thursday evening treated a dozen of her neighbors to a raccoon supper, which she provided with her own hands, even to going to the woods and shooting the coon, dressing the game and preparing and serving the same. Those fortunate enough to be present report that the feed was delicious and the service perfect.

The world war may not make as much difference in the number of Clearfield county hunters in the woods this year as we naturally expected it would, but we have found one place where the war's effect will come home to every gun handler. That is in the price of ammunition. The price of powder and shot has gone sky high, due of course to the unprecedented demand by the armies of the world and in consequence thereof sporting ammunition will be anywhere from twenty-five to thirtythree and one third per cent. higher this year than it was last, and many dealers were forced to give the prices a substantial boost last year.

We have not been able to get much dope as yet concerning the different camps but hope to be able again to print a roster of the members of all Clearfield county hunting camps previous to the opening of the deer season, and request the secretary of each club to send us the list of names this year. There will be many absentees due to the war and the poor devil in the training camps or trenches will be anxiously waiting to learn who all and how many of the folks back home will be pursuing the hunt and matching wits with the wily old buck. So hurry up with your lists and also make note of any improvements, additions or new camps.

A new camp was built at the old cattle yard near the Little Prairie on the headwaters of Laurel run this year. It was built by Cleo Schenck and his crew who tented at this spot last fall and secured three fine buck.

The Panther Rocks boys have added a fire place to their stone mansion at the headwaters of Lick Run and are making great preparations for this year's hunt.

The Merrill Office camp has been greatly enlarged this year and a determined effort will be made by this crew to win back some of their laurels lost to the Sawdust Pile gang last fall.

Al Dunlap keeper of eKennedy park camp, lost a slab of bacon Tuesday night, which cost him about six dollars. Al had the bacon hanging against the side of the house at the kitchen door and a big black bear rolled carefully up and yanked the highpriced meat from the nail and made off into the bush with it. Al though he says he felt very much like

Committee on Public Information
Declares there have been many such Encounters Recently

ONE ENCOUNTER IS DESCRIBED

BULLETIN
Washington, Oct. 6.—An American patrol vessel in foreign waters has been lost according to an announcement made by the Navy Department. Dispatch from Admiral Sims stated ship foundered but all officers and crew landed safely. Accident occurred October 4. This is the first American ship to be lost in Foreign Anti-Submarine service which is part of the regular Navy.

Washington, Oct. 6.—American destroyers have sunk a considerable number of German U-boats. The first of a series of descriptions portraying battles between these destroyers and enemy submarines was made public by the Committee on Public Information today.

The first encounter in which a U-boat was apparently sunk within full view of a fleet of merchant ships is graphically described in a following paragraph. The date of the encounter is withheld as is also the name of the destroyer in the engagement. The submarine was running submerged with only the periscope showing and the destroyer was acting as a convoy to a large number of merchant ships which were in full view.

The U-boat was rushed at immediately off port of the destroyer and following a parallel course in an opposite direction when the periscope was discovered. It was throwing a column of water several feet high. The officer thought for a moment that a torpedo had been fired. The next instant the destroyed changed its course to the left, and it rushed for the U-boat at full speed. At the same time the forward gun opened fire on the periscope. The commanding officer ordered a course steered that would bring the destroyer across the wake of the U-boat, a little to the rear of the periscope. As the destroyer rushed across the line a charge was sent and a column of clear water shot thirty feet into the air. Three times the destroyer circled the U-boat, each time shooting a death charge. On the third circular movement all of the port guns opened on the submarine. Spouts of clear water each time showed that charge had missed. The fourth time the destroyed came to the attack exactly in the wake of the U-boat, as she neared the end of the line the fourth death charge was let go and there followed a wide path of seething, churning water and a heavy film of oil. The destroyer spent some time looking for further signs of the U-boat but none was found. The engagement lasted 22 minutes. The engagement brought a letter of appreciation from the British Admiral who highly praised the efficiency of the officers and crew of the American destroyer.

Coal Miners To Receive Substantial Increase

Conference at Washington Results in Satisfactory Agreement

Washington, Oct. 5.—Bituminous coal miners of the Central competitive field won their fight for a general wage increase tonight when operators and miners representatives in conference here reached a compromise agreement on the terms of a new contract. The agreement presages a wage raise throughout the industry since the central gold scale serves as a basis for all other districts, and a consequent advance in the government's fixed price for coal.

Price to Go Up
Operators representatives agreed to the new wages on condition that they be absorbed in higher coal prices. After the agreement, drawn by a sub-committee, is ratified tomorrow by the full conference they will go to the fuel administration and ask a revision upward of present coal prices to meet the raise. The wage increase, according to operators, estimates, will add from 35 to 50 cents, a ton to the cost of producing coal in thick vein mines and considerably more in mines containing the thinner veins.

The new contract will contain provisions to prevent strikes and lock-outs and will be so drawn as to make it impossible for either operators or miners to break it on the grounds of changed conditions. It will run for the duration of the war, provided the war does not continue more than two years.

The Advances
Under the agreement an increase of 10 cents a ton will be paid for pick and machine mining as against the miners first demand for 15 cents; day labor will be advanced $1.40 a day instead of the $1.90 asked; the pay for yardage and dead work will be increased 15 per cent instead of 20 per cent demanded. Trappers will get 75 cents a day raise and other boys $1.00.

The conferences began nearly two weeks ago. At first it appeared the two sides would have the greatest difficulty in getting together. The first demands of the miners were met by an offer of a slight increase, which the miners promptly refused. The miners then made a counter proposal reducing their demands considerably and this offer finally was accepted by the operators virtually as it stood.

Contract for War Period
The length of time the contract should run was one of the most difficult questions. The miners asked that it be made for two years, but the operators, fearing the war might end suddenly and demoralize the coal industry, held out for a contract to last only throughout the war. The compromise was fairly satisfactory to both sides.

PUNXSUTAWNEY GIRL SHOOT MAN BECAUSE OF ALLEGED INSULT

Punxsutawney, Pa., Oct. 5.—With two bullets in his left arm and one lodged in his left lung, Michael Barile, a railroad employe, took refuge in the R. R. Y. M. C. A. Thursday, with Mrs. Agnes Vardell, who did the shooting, closely pursuing him. Mrs. Vardell says that Barile entered her home near the Y. M. C. A. and made improper advances to her. Barile is in the Adrian hospital in a serious condition.

After the shooting, Mrs. Vardell, who is but 19 years old, calmly sat on the front porch of her home and waited for the police, with the empty revolver under her apron. As the girl is about to become a mother, she was not arrested, but is under surveillance at her home.

GREAT POLISH PATRIOT TO BE REMEMBERED

Centennial Anniversary of Death of Thaddeus Kosciuszko, To Be Fittingly Celebrated

A REVOLUTIONARY WAR HERO

Washington, D. C., Oct. 5.—The thousands of American citizens of Polish nativity or descent are making elaborate preparations to pay honor to the memory of Kosciuszko, the great Polish patriot and warrior and the friend of America in the Revolution, in celebrations to be held this month on the centennial anniversary of his death. Plans are under way for a notable patriotic meeting to be held in this city, with President Wilson as the chief speaker. Similar observances are to be held in Chicago, New York, Milwaukee and various other cities with a large Polish element in their population.

Thaddeus Kosciuszko was one of the most prominent of the many men of varied fortunes and strong character who were attracted to America at the time of the Revolution. He belonged to a family of the lesser nobility, and his life was marked out for the army. He had a distinct taste for music, and this attracted much attention at the cadet school at Warsaw, where he was placed for study. He made a brilliant success in all branches of his education, so much so that the state sent him to France to perfect his studies.

It was really an unhappy love affair with the daughter of a Polish nobleman far above his station that decided Kosciuszko to seek adventure in some foreign land. The struggle of the American colonies appealed to him and in 1777 he sailed from France with the French fleet to assist the Americans with his sword. Washington found him a devoted officer and one to be trusted in times of emergency when firmness and courage were eminently essential.

He went back to Poland in 1786. When his unhappy country became subject to Russia he went to live at Leipzig, and there he remained till the army was reorganized in Poland. He was made a major general.

His efforts for his country were stupendous, and at one time he held 20,000 Russians from attack with only 4,000 men. But the action of King Stanislaus in agreeing to peace in 1792 made all Kosciuszko's efforts of no avail and he resigned his commission.

In 1794, when Poland had been a second time divided into sections, there was revolution, and Kosciuszko was called to Cracow and made dictator. He tried to follow the example of Washington in the midst of danger and pressing needs.

He was victorious over the Russians at great odds, and if King Frederick William of Prussia had not come to the aid of the Russians the Poles would have won their independence. But the Polish army was opposed by thousands more than they could bring into the field, and in a last terrible battle, where Kosciuszko had only 4,000 men to meet 14,000 Russians, the Poles were overwhelmed and their brave leader was wounded.

He recovered from these wounds, however, and for two years was a prisoner at St. Petersburg. Under the Emperor Paul I he was freed, and he came over to America to see with his own eyes the progress made by the young republic.

There was a dramatic moment in his release. The Emperor handed him back his sword. The devoted Pole drew himself up proudly and declined to receive it, saying: "I have no use for my sword, as I have no longer a country."

After enjoying hospitality and honors in the United States, Kosciuszko went to France and settled at Fontainebleau. Bonaparte tried to use his name and influence to bring about a rising in Poland against France. But the patriot was too honorable to lend himself to such a scheme. When Bonaparte fell and the Rus-

VETERANS ARE ENTERTAINED AT GRAMPIAN

Forty Eight Patriots Answer to the Roll Call on Day in their Honor at juvenile Fair

BIG FAIR BETTER THAN EVER

The county reunion of the discharged Soldiers and Sailors of Clearfield county was held at the Grampian fair yesterday and it was a great success throughout, not withstanding the inclemency of the weather. They were most royally entertained by the good people of Grampian. Nelson Walker, chairman of the committee on entertainment, his assistants, and the Grampian Fair association under the leadership of Dr. J. A. Miller could not do enough to make their visit pleasant. The good ladies of Grampian provided a bountiful dinner. The divine blessing was invoked by Rev. Geo. Kpaator of the Curwensville Baptist church.

Col. George D. Runk president of the organization presided in his usual happy manner. Rev. John P. McCurdy made the prayer. W. P. Harper, secretary of the organization, called the roll and forty-eight veterans responded to their names.

Stirring addresses were delivered by Captain A. H. Woodward, W. I. Swoope, Esq., and Rev. John P. McCurdy.

Rev. Cook and John Haley rendered some fine solos. Another pleasing feature of the program were the recitations of Miss Lewis Johnson and Miss Edith Anderson.

After the program was over, we they visited the baby show and witnessed some fine drill work by the pupils of the Grampian and Stronach schools under the leadership of Prof. Will Humphrey, principal of the Grampian schools. All agreed it was one of the pleasantest days they have ever spent and will be glad to visit Grampian whenever they have the opportunity.

The following officers were elected to serve for the ensuing year: President, George D. Runk. Vice President, Cyrus Woods. Sec-Treas., W. P. Harper.

Prominent Attorney Answers Final Call

James H. Kelley, Esq., Passes Away At His Market Street Home

Ex-district Attorney James H. Kelley passed peacefully into rest at his Market street home at 6:30 o'clock this morning following an illness of several years duration, aged 65 years. He is survived by a widow, one son and one daughter.

The funeral will be held from his late residence Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Services will be in charge of his pastor, Rev. Dr. E. C. Reeve, of the First Presbyterian church. Proper obituary Monday.

sians entered Paris, Kosciuszko had a long interview with the Emperor Alexander whom he urged to restore to Poland what had been taken from her. There is reason to believe that Alexander promised this.

It was in 1815 that Kosciuszko went to Switzerland to spend his remaining years. An accidental fall from his horse was the cause of his death, which occurred Oct. 17, 1817. The entire civilized world paid him the tribute of admiration and honor, for his heroic deeds there was nothing for motive but the aid of a true patriot.

LaFollette Replies To Charges Of Treason In Red Hot Speech

JEFFERSON CO. SATISFIED WITH CONDITIONS

Correspondent Charges Clarion and Clearfield County Dealers with Evils They have now

AN ANSWER TO MR. BANGERT

Some time ago Charles J. Bangert, the DuBois publicist, objected rather seriously to a statement which appeared in these columns relative to the great decrease in the number of arrests by the police of Punxsutawney during the first year of the town's "dry existence" following the refusal of all liquor licenses in Jefferson county by Judge Corbett. Mr. Bangert made certain assertions regarding the recent Jefferson county criminal court and alleged that the people of Jefferson county were already tired of the peace, sobriety and good order due to the changed conditions.

We promised to inquire into the matter and find how far "John Barleycorn's" defender was from the truth in his statement, and herewith supply the following statement which we received from an authoritative source and which one can bank on. It is not our purpose to engage in any controversy over this matter but publish this statement to make good our word concerning Bangert's charge.

We are advised as follows: "Jefferson county is more than satisfied with her present lot, and were it not for the liquor dealers and manufacturers of Clarion and Clearfield counties, her condition would closely approach the ideal. At the last unsuccessful attempt of a few former saloon keepers to obtain licenses, most of them found it difficult to secure sufficient signers to give their petition legality. Business men, who had formerly signed such petitions, refused, and I say, without fear of contradiction, that conditions throughout Jefferson county, morally and in a business way, are better than they were under the license system. Of course, liquor is brought into the county and is being used, often too freely, by those addicted to the habit, but the beauty of it all is that we are not making a new crop or recruiting the youth of our county to take the places of those for whom the former licensed saloons were responsible. Mr. Bangert knows and every thinking man and woman knows that no serious economic or moral defense can be offered for the existence of the liquor traffic.

It is true that our August Criminal Court was larger than usual, but its length could not be attributed in any way to the absence of saloons. The greater part of the time was taken up with the trial of the Ernest Haines murder case, as Mr. Bangert doubtless well knows. This case came from a rural township, which never had a saloon, and it did not appear that Ernest Haines was ever addicted to the use of liquor. The motive for the alleged crime, participating in the murder of his father, as a desire for money. The other murder case came from another township that never had a licensed saloon and nowhere in the testimony did it appear that either the deceased or the defendant, who were brothers-in-law were drunk. It was far from the drunken row which results in killings that are so common in your county. If it had not been for the two cases mentioned our Court would not have lasted over four days."

BAR ASSOCIATION MEETS

At a meeting of the Clearfield County Bar Association held in the Law Library this morning for the purpose of taking suitable action on the death of James H. Kelley, Esq., it was decided to hold a memorial session in the court room Monday morning at 9:30 o'clock. Judge Bell appointed the following committee to draft resolutions and report at this meeting: George R. Butler, W. A. Haggerty and W. C. Pentz.

Eleven Deserters Listed By Local Board

Registrants Who Failed to Appear for Examination When Summoned are Listed

In addition to the four or five other men who failed to answer when summoned for service in the National Army, mention of which had already been made in The Progress, the Examination Board has a list of eleven additional men who failed to answer the summons and appear for examination and are carried on the rolls as deserters and whose names will be turned over to the Department of Justice for investigation and arrest.

The list, together with the record made by the local board follows: 353 Barto, John, Clearfield, left town and cannot be located. 438 Predelin, Ferdinand Winburne, cannot be found. 454 Youngdale, Louis R., Phillipsburg, cannot be found. 34 Juggquist, Henry P., Winburne, With carnival and can't be located. 281 Oprenci, Mike, Curwensville, Can't be found. 390 Romanski, Wasel, Woodland, Mail returned, can't be found. 395 McKee, Malcolm B., Clearfield, Mail returned, can't be found. 429, Bleo, William, Clearfield, Mail returned, can't be found. 88 McCabe, Michael, Hawk Run, Wrote for transfer twice, but has not been found. 93 Roney, Patsy, Wallacetown, Mail returned, can't be found. 210 Kolodyck, John, Curwensville, No response to notice.

Five of the six men recalled by the local board for re-examination were before the examining physicians yesterday and all were passed. These men had been rejected at the first examination on account of having flat feet, but since that time the rule regarding flat feet has been greatly modified and under the new regulations the former disqualifications were done away with. Three of the five, however, are married and have dependents and will no doubt be exempted at this time.

The men passed were as follows: Charles Edison Groce, Clearfield. Thomas Leonard Waring, Morrisdale. Percy Emerson Cowell, Morrisdale. James Canady Frampton, Winburne. Harvey Al Morgan, Glen Richey.

GLEN RICHEY VISITORS IN TOWN

Edward Gill and Alexander Patterson, of Glen Richey, had business at the Court House this morning incident to a real estate deal in which they were the principals. Mr. Gill disposed of a property in Glen Richey to Mr. Patterson and they were at the Recorder's office to have the matter properly placed of record.

Theophilus Cox, attorney for Mr. Gill was also present and conducted the negotiations. Mr. Cox informed us while here that he is working on a device to combat the U-boat and has great hopes for his invention which he says has been promised a trial by the navy department.

PHEASANT VISITS TOWN

A young pheasant flew into town this morning and striking the telephone wires at the Keystone building fell to the ground stunned. A young man named Ogden saw the bird fall and picked it up. It was not injured by its contact with the wires and was taken out to Mt. Joy by the young man on his home journey and liberated.

Demands Statement of War aims of the Government and War party in charge of Affairs

WILL NOT TURN FROM COURSE

Washington, Oct. —Senator LaFollette today in a spectacular speech before the Senate defied those in the country who charge him with sedition and treason denouncing the campaign of libel and character assassination against men opposing war measures. He declared neither the clamor of the mob nor the voice of power would turn him. It is the first time a Senator has ever replied to such serious charges in this manner. He said what he termed the "war party" was trying to intimidate Congress and the people and fiercely defended his speech at the same time demanding a statement of war aims.

"Not by the breadth of a blade," he shouted, "will I turn from the course marked out for myself guided by common knowledge as I can obtain and controlled and directed by solemn conviction of right and duty."

"Since the declaration of war the triumphant war party has pursued those senators and representatives who voted against war with malicious attack going to the extreme limit of charging them with treason," LaFollette said.

"But it is not alone members of Congress that the war party has sought to intimidate. A mandate has gone forth to the people that they must be silent while the things done by their government are things which most vitally concern their being, their happiness and their lives."

"Today and for weeks past laws law abiding citizens of this country are being terrorized and their rights outraged by those sworn to uphold laws and protect the rights of the people."

"I have in my possession numerous affidavits establishing the fact that people have been unlawfully arrested, thrown into jail and held incarcerated for days at a time only to be released without ever having been taken into court because they have committed no crime, private residences being invaded and the most sacred constitutional rights of an American citizen being continually violated. It appears to be the purpose of those conducting this campaign to throw the country into a state of terror to coerce public opinion, to stifle criticism and suppress discussion of the great issues involved in this war."

He quoted from speeches and writings of Lincoln, Clay, Webster and Sumner to show opposition to war and to President Polk's attitude and policy, and to Lloyd George's opposition of the Boer war. He quoted from Chatham and Burke on their opposition to the war on the American Colonies. In closing LaFollette said: "To show that the principle of free speech was not new doctrine and was born of the Constitution of the United States," LaFollette then launched into a criticism of Congress for failing to "exercise its power to declare the purpose of the war."

After the conclusion of LaFollette's speech, Senator Kellogg introduced a resolution. "After we have declared war," said Kellogg, "I believe that we should be extremely cautious and accurate in stating cause of the war. I deny that we went to war to secure the rights of American citizens to ride on ships loaded with munitions or explosives. I deny that we went to war to protect the loans of Morgan and Company to foreign governments."

He reviewed the history of torpedoes American ships. "I am as jealous of the right of free speech as any member of this body or any citizen of the land, but this is an erroneous statement of fact rather than free speech."

GETTING ALONG FINELY

Frederick Kennard, who has been seriously ill at his home on Cherry street, is very much better at this writing and has begun to improve in a manner highly gratifying to his friends. He suffered a severe attack of pneumonia and for a time it was feared he could not recover.

NOTICE

The West Side W. C. T. U. will meet Monday night at the home of Mrs. Herman Robb on William street.

Mr. Hunter: This Is Your Store

Our men's section is filled to overflowing with all the things but guns and game that you will need for this season's sport.

This week we will only mention the line in its entirety but from week to week as the Hunters' Page comes out we will go into the merits of each one.

Sweaters, Khaki trousers, Leggings and Puttee, Hi-Top shoes, Flannel Shirts, Knitted Caps, Underwear, Leather and Wool gloves, comprise a stock that will be ready for you when the season opens on the 20th.

Hunters' Comfort

If there's one thing that is conducive to the comfort of you hunters, there's a hundred in this store.

Just for instance—Thermos bottles, safety razors, toilet kits, wrist watches, each has its place in your material comfort while in the woods or in camp.

We're going to tell you about these things, as we go along with this page and it will be of interest to you to keep in touch with us.

Mirkin Says:

If you hunters want to go out in the woods and camps toggled out in all that's best and you will come in and give this stock of mine the "once over."

We can, from our stocks, rig you out from head to foot and rig you out in such a way that you'll be warm on a crossing or on the drive.

Sweaters, underwear, gloves, coats, flannel shirts, caps and lots of other things that I am going to tell you about in this space during the season.

We have them in pants, coats and vests and plenty of sizes to fit all comers. Yours is here for you.

H. J. FLEGAL

Well, here we are again, almost at the opening of the hunting season. How time flies! It seems but a few short weeks since we oiled our "rusty rifle" and hung it on the wall following the close of the deer season for 1916. But the time is fast approaching, is almost here, in fact, when the devotee of dog and gun will hie him to the quiet of the woodland glen and there match wits with the furred and feathered denizens of the wild.

Hold on, there, just a minute boys. Remember Clearfield county is closed against the hunting of squirrel and wild turkey until next year.

The state game commission has very generously stocked the woods and fields of our hunter's paradise and it is now up to you, Mr. Sportsman, to cooperate with them in their endeavor to propagate the game mentioned in our good old Clearfield county hills. Watch your step.

Also remember, please, that the opening of the season was put back five days by the new law. That is, the pheasant season does not start until October 20th, but to post you properly on the provisions of the recently enacted game laws, we append herewith a summary of the new law's requirements.

The different game birds and game animals may be lawfully taken in Pennsylvania as follows:

BEAR, one each season (three to one camp or body of men, October 15 to December 15. All kinds of steel traps, dead-falls and pens forbidden.

BLACKBIRDS, unlimited, September 1 to November 30.

DEER, male with horns two inches above the hair, one each season (six to one camp or body of men, December 1 to December 15.

ELK, absolutely protected until November, 1921.

PHEASANTS, English, Mongolian, Chinese, and Ring-neck, 4 in one day, 10 in one season, October 20 to November 30.

HARE, 3 in one day, 15 in one season, November 1 to December 15. (All kinds of traps forbidden.)

HUNGARIAN QUAIL, 4 in one day, 10 in one season, October 20 to November 30.

QUAIL, commonly called Virginia Partridge, 8 in one day, 25 in one season, October 20 to November 30.

RABBITS, 10 in one day, 60 in one season, November 1 to December 15. (All kinds of traps forbidden.)

RACCOON, unlimited, September 1 to December 31.

RUFFED Grouse commonly called Pheasant, 4 in one day, 24 in one season, October 20 to November 30.

SNIPES, Jack or Wilson, unlimited, September 15 to November 30.

SQUIRRELS, Red or Pine, unlimited, 6 of the combined kinds in one day, 20 in one season, October 20 to November 30.

WILD TURKEYS, one each season, November 15 to November 30.

WOODCOCK, 10 in one day, 20 in one season, October 20 to November 30.

The Hunters' Headquarters

There isn't a thing that you will want for your season's sport that we are not in a position to furnish you.

During the past year this has become the headquarters for the hunters roundabout and is getting more popular every day.

Our varied stocks—their good quality—our service to our friends is beginning to tell in the widening out of our circle.

We just want to enumerate what we have for your sport and comfort during the season and afterwards we will tell you about them in detail.

to be a howling success thus far. There are a couple of flocks at Kennedy park, but as the old hens are only semi-wild the young crop will son come in in 1918 unless they get wild about something in the meantime.

We were of the opinion that the demands of the government on the young manhood of Clearfield county would make a distinct decrease in the number of hunter's licenses issued this year, but judging from the record in County Treasurer Kline's office for the month of September such will not be the case. One had reason to expect that when one thousand young men had been taken from our county, ninety-five per cent of whom were hunters, there would be a distinct falling off in the number of licenses to hunt issued this year, yet such is not the case, as a look at the records disclosed. On October 1st, 1916, County Treasurer Kline had already issued permits to hunt in Clearfield county to 581 persons, while on October 1st of this year 788 persons had availed themselves of the opportunity of putting up $1.00 for the legal right to "bear arms" in Clearfield county during the hunting season of 1917 and the total number of licenses issued up to Thursday evening, was 1100.

Mrs. L. F. Wagner, of Chester Hill, did not succeed in getting license No. 1 this year but she is some hunter regardless of that fact and last Thursday evening treated a dozen of her neighbors to a raccoon supper, which she provided with her own hands, even to going to the woods and shooting the coon, dressing the game and preparing and serving the same. Those fortunate enough to be present report that the feed was delicious and the service perfect.

The world war may not make as much difference in the number of Clearfield county hunters in the woods this year as we naturally expected it would, but we have found one place where the war's effect will come home to every gun handler. That is in the price of ammunition. The price of powder and shot has gone sky high, due of course to the unprecedented demand by the armies of the world and in consequence thereof sporting ammunition will be anywhere from twenty-five to thirtythree and one third per cent. higher this year than it was last, and many dealers were forced to give the prices a substantial boost last year.

We have not been able to get much dope as yet concerning the different camps but hope to be able again to print a roster of the members of all Clearfield county hunting camps previous to the opening of the deer season, and request the secretary of each club to send us the list of names this year. There will be many absentees due to the war and the poor devil in the training camps or trenches will be anxiously waiting to learn who all and how many of the folks back home will be pursuing the hunt and matching wits with the wily old buck. So hurry up with your lists and also make note of any improvements, additions or new camps.

A new camp was built at the old cattle yard near the Little Prairie on the headwaters of Laurel run this year. It was built by Cleo Schenck and his crew who tented at this spot last fall and secured three fine buck.

The Panther Rocks boys have added a fire place to their stone mansion at the headwaters of Lick Run and are making great preparations for this year's hunt.

The Merrill Office camp has been greatly enlarged this year and a determined effort will be made by this crew to win back some of their laurels lost to the Sawdust Pile gang last fall.

Al Dunlap keeper of eKennedy park camp, lost a slab of bacon Tuesday night, which cost him about six dollars. Al had the bacon hanging against the side of the house at the kitchen door and a big black bear rolled carefully up and yanked the highpriced meat from the nail and made off into the bush with it. Al though he says he felt very much like
